MASTERCLASS CONFERENCE 2005: A COMPLETE SUCCESS!

Following up on a successful first year, the second annual NKBA MasterClass Conference, held in San Francisco, California, brought together kitchen and bath professionals from around the globe!

The conference, presented by Kitchen + Bath Designer magazine, the National Kitchen & Bath Association, and sponsored by Planit, a leading kitchen and bath design software company, challenged designers to reach new heights in the art of design through a series of inspirational seminars led by world-renowned design masters.

Through two full days of keynote presentations, breakout sessions, and roundtable discussions, NKBA members learned how to advance their design skills and expand their vision from a variety of experts from across the world including Fu Tung Cheng, Johnny Grey and more!

Attendees gained hands-on experience working side-by-side with fellow leading designers in creative, problem-solving workshops, intended to sharpen a designer's insight and expertise.

"Thoroughly enjoyed the whole conference," Celia Visses said of the event. "I loved the way the speakers made themselves available to the delegates, and the ability to tap into such a wealth of knowledge and experience!"
